Association for Rural & Small Libraries
2013 Annual Conference
Omaha, NE September 25-28

EMPOWERING SMALL LIBRARIES

Brought to you in partnership with:

Schedule, Preconference Information and Workshop Descriptions
Welcome to Omaha!

On behalf of the Board of Directors, I’m pleased to welcome you to this year’s conference. This year’s conference promises to be the best one yet. The opportunities to learn, share, network and grow are unparalleled in ARSL’s history. I congratulate the conference committee and our joint chairs on a job very well done. It is my hope that you will find a new horizon to sail towards and a north star to point you in the right direction.

Welcome to Omaha,
Andrea Berstler
President, Association for Rural & Small Libraries
Executive Director, Wicomico Public Library

Welcome to Omaha!

It is a great pleasure to have library colleagues from across the country come to Omaha for this year’s Association for Rural and Small Libraries conference. Your Nebraska co-hosts join our Iowa neighbors in wishing all participants an enjoyable and worthwhile conference. Planners and organizers have worked hard to assure that there will be many opportunities to learn, network, and contribute. We also hope you take some time to explore the nearby Omaha and Council Bluffs neighborhoods. Thank you for joining in making the 2014 ARSL conference a great experience for all.

Rod Wagner
Director, Nebraska Library Commission

Welcome to the annual conference of the Association for Rural and Small Libraries! The state libraries of Iowa and Nebraska have enjoyed working together with ARSL in preparation for this conference, and we hope that you find enjoyment as well as learning opportunities in your trip to the Midwest. Thanks for all that you do for your library customers - in Iowa and Nebraska, we see every day the key role of libraries in rural and small towns as the hearts and souls of their communities.

Mary Wegner
State Librarian, Iowa Library Services

Keynote Speakers

Lee Rainie
Director, Pew Internet & American Life Project

The Next Library

Lee Rainie will describe the Project's latest research about the way people use libraries and the role they play in their communities. He will focus on some of the ways that rural libraries are unique and will also cover the most recent findings about how people use mobile connections and social media to get and share information.

Joseph Starita
Pike Professor of journalism at the University of Nebraska College of Journalism and Mass Communications. Author of “I Am A Man” – Chief Standing Bear’s Journey for Justice.

Join Starita as he discusses his book “I Am A Man”

On a numbingly cold day in early January 1879, a middle-aged Ponca chief set out on foot on a 600-mile journey to bury his only son in their beloved homeland near the Nebraska-South Dakota border. Along the way, Chief Standing Bear unwittingly ended up in the cross-hairs of an historic legal decision - one establishing for the first time in the nation's 103-year history that an Indian was "a person" with many of the "same Constitutional privileges as the more fortunate white race." It is for this reason that many Native Americans consider Standing Bear the Martin Luther King of Indian Country.

Sally Gardner Reed
Executive Director of United for Libraries

“Small is Beautiful!”

Sally Gardner Reed will talk about the huge impact small libraries can have on their communities. Library services are in constant flux thanks to ever changing technology and demographics. Through innovation and sheer love of the job, those who work in small libraries are making sure that their residents have access to the same top notch services as any library in the country.
Special Events

Craig Johnson
Author Luncheon Featured Guest, sponsored by COSLA

Longmire, or how many people can you kill in a town of 25?

Award-winning, New York Times Best-selling author Craig Johnson tells of the trials and tribulations of being a cowboy author from Ucross, Wyoming (population 25) who finds himself responsible for the highest-rated scripted drama in A&E’s network history.

Mary Stenger
Director, Southern Area Library, Lost Creek, WV

Best Small Library in America, 2013

How did the smallest library in WV win Library Journal’s Best Small Library in America? Mary Stenger, Director of Southern Area Library in Lost Creek, WV (population 496), will talk about how the team at Southern Area Library reinvented what the library means to their community.

Leah Krotz
Dazzling Displays on a Dime
Displays don’t have to be expensive or time-consuming. Learn to create captivating displays using everyday fun objects and themes to bring your library to life. You will see tons of pictures to get your creative juices flowing and go home with resources and practical tips for creating displays that will dazzle!

Jamie Hollier
DigitalLearn.org
An informational session about the Public Library Association’s DigitalLearn.org, an IMLS funded project that launched in June 2013. DigitalLearn.org is an online hub for digital literacy support and training, with a specific focus on rural and small libraries. Included in DigitalLearn.org are self-directed trainings for end-users and a community of practice for digital literacy trainers.

David Mixdorf
Establish a Seed Saving Library
Learn how to establish a seed saving library at minimal expense.

Chris Rippel
Excel at Rearranging Your Library
Eventually librarians need or want to rearrange their libraries. Rearranging bits of paper is tricky. In this session Chris will demonstrate using Excel to easily create a variety of patron-friendly layouts. It’s free, quick to learn and use, and perfect for small libraries.

Heidi Schutt
Family Read
Take advantage of resources and hear the results of several libraries in Southern Minnesota that put together a family-oriented reading program. This program involves and encourages entire families to read together and talk about what they are reading. It’s a whole new spin on Summer Reading.

Carrie Falk
From Cozy to Exotic: Library Programming for Everyone
Ideas for programs at your library that work plus suggestions for people, organizations and local businesses you can partner with to enhance programs and save on costs. Everything from a car cruise to a gadgetzoo to Saturday craft projects. This presentation will include many examples and pictures.

Amy McBride & Paul Paladino
Fundraising to Build and Sustain the Best Small Library in America
Learn how the Montrose Regional Library District raised $1 million dollars to build a National Medal-Winning library in Naturita, Colorado (population 546), and how it raises $30,000 annually to sustain it.

Andrea Berstler
The Future is Now
With the technology landscape constantly shape-shifting, libraries must respond as futurists to changing patron needs. Learn strategies on how to remain relevant, if not core, to your community’s needs by providing the means and support for patrons to create and innovate. From makerspacers to editing suites to digital learning labs, libraries are empowering and impacting their communities, now and in the future.

<tr>
<td>Al Bennett &amp; Larry Grieco</td>
<td>Pushing the Limits</td>
<td>Pushing the Limits is now entering its 4th and final year for funding by the National Science Foundation. In 2013, twenty rural libraries offered four programs each for their communities featuring reading, viewing project-developed videos, and discussions involving local scientists. Leaders from participating libraries will describe their activities and the future of the 2014 program will be discussed.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carolyn Petersen</td>
<td>Reader’s Advisory on the Run</td>
<td>This presentation is aimed at the librarian who is too busy to read everything he/she would like to, but still wants to keep abreast of adult reading trends so they can recommend materials for their patrons.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Terry Elsey</td>
<td>Refurbishing Reference</td>
<td>Attending this session will help you to survey holdings in reference, decide reference depth and breadth with typical update periods, make decisions on print vs. e-resources such as e-books and databases, make reference policy, weed the print collection, develop new signage and improve the arrangement of databases on your website.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Joan Weaver</td>
<td>Small Libraries Can Make Big Impact</td>
<td>The small and rural library can stay relevant by being instrumental in preserving their community’s heritage through oral histories. This presentation will show how to gather, preserve and make accessible your community’s history by following the example of the Kinsley Library (two time 2012 ALA winner and recognized throughout Kansas).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Karen Drevo</td>
<td>Start a 1,000 Books B4K Program</td>
<td>Learn how to launch a “1,000 Books Before Kindergarten” stealth program at your library to ensure kids enter kindergarten ready to read. Reinforce parents’ role as their child’s first teacher and instill the lifelong love of reading in young children. This program encourages frequent visits to the library and boosts your circulation all on a shoestring budget.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lisa Lewis</td>
<td>Superhero Leadership</td>
<td>Empower your library by developing “superhero” leadership skills. Channel your inner superhero and lead your library through difficult challenges such as budget, innovative programs, community outreach, staffing difficulties and much more. You will leave this presentation armed with all the tools necessary to conquer the world! (Maybe a slight exaggeration!)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Thill</td>
<td>Tapping into Transnational Community Networks</td>
<td>This program examines the way transnational communities can be used to create specifically tailored library services that reflect the true demographics of a library’s Spanish speaking community.</td>
</tr>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Kieran Hixon</td>
<td>Tech Tools Get’er Done for Free</td>
<td>This presentation will share more than 25 resources that will help you fill your technology tool box with things just for fun and to get work done. We will look at a variety of tools and discuss possible uses.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hope Decker</td>
<td>Teen Programs That Pack a Punch</td>
<td>Every library can provide teen programs that teens will love; “If you build it they will come”. Three simple programs will be presented: Extreme Cupcake Decorating, Ultimate PB&amp;J Challenge and Duct Tape Crafts. At the end, participants can share their own teen programs, pitfalls of teen programming and brainstorm solutions.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Louise Greene &amp; Rachel Miller</td>
<td>Think Outside the Barn</td>
<td>Advocate for small and rural libraries in the festive atmosphere of a fair, farm show, or community event. Bring “Think outside the Barn @ Your Library” to your area and connect with patrons on their turf. These venues are perfect to remind people of their rural roots and what libraries do for them.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Matthew Cross, Jeffrey Stoffer, Cecily Peters</td>
<td>21st Century iBrary</td>
<td>For the past 4 years the Ak-Chin Indian Community Library has prided itself with using new innovative methods to teach digital media and 21st century skills. Our presentation is about telling our story and is meant to inspire others to think outside the box for programming at their libraries.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jeremy Bolom</td>
<td>Weeding: The Good, the Bad and the Mustie</td>
<td>Weeding is not a dirty word! Change your attitude about weeding and take charge of your collection. Learn the essential steps to make your collection more useful, comfortable and attractive for users.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Susan Mannix</td>
<td>Working Together</td>
<td>Maintaining effective and productive relationships with the Library Board of Trustees, City Government and City Administration can be among the Public Library Director’s most important and challenging roles. Join in a discussion on how a Director can confidently and successfully manage these pivotal professional relationships.</td>
